Announcement To All Users Of Water In Appomattox

The office for the payment of the water rent for rent due for October service will be in the front left of the Times Virginian building.

Old accounts are due to W. M. Hancock and Company but service for October is due The Water Company of Appomattox, which is the new trade name.

The office will be open from nine to three every day except Saturdays and on Saturdays will close at noon. This is a convenient center of the business section of town and we hope you will like the new arrangement and try and always get your bill paid by the tenth of each month.

1940 RED CROSS POSTER

Nanette Martha Anderson, a Texas girl who has made a successful career as a model for photographers and artists in New York, posed for the 1940 Red Cross Poster, calling to all patriotic men and women to join the American Red Cross Chapter in their communities from November 11 to 30. Ray Morgan, a distinguished New York portrait and poster artist, created the design, which emphasizes the keynote that the Red Cross "serves humanity."

Insecticides Restricted by Federal Regulation

Federal regulations which deal with the amount of poisonous residues on fruits and vegetables for sale on markets have caused a change in the kinds of insecticides recommended for use in the control of garden insects, points out George D. Jones of the University of Missouri college of agriculture.

Today's trend is away from lead or calcium arsenate for control of chewing insects to a substitute which kills but leaves no harmful residue. Of course, the edible portions of some plants are protected so that poisonous sprays would not reach them and others can be protected with lead or calcium arsenate and cryolite until the edible portions develop.

The substitutes most generally available are pyrethrum or rotenone mixtures, which, being made from plant products, display some variation in amount of killing agency in the raw materials. These substitutes for lead and calcium arsenate or cryolite are not as adaptable for wide usage, so growers should use good judgment in their purchases.

Beware Fire Blight

Fruit growers are warned to watch for the appearance of fire blight, a disease affecting the foliage and bark of apple and pear trees that spreads rapidly and may destroy an entire orchard unless checked.

Fire blight is very prevalent this year. Pruning out all infected branches and cankers as soon as they appear is the best control measure. Spraying with a nicotine solution will control insects only.

Public Sale of ValuableTownHome And Town Lots

By authority granted me by all of the parties in interest in the estate of John E. Sears, deceased, I will sell, as agent, at public auction on the premises, for cash, at 2 O'clock P.M. on the following described property, to wit:

SATURDAY, November 9, 1940

All of those lots or parcels of land in the Town of Appomattox, Virginia, described as Lots 1, 2, 3, 4 5; 6; 7; 8; 9, and 10, in Block A, and Lots 1; 2, 3, 4; and 5; in Block B, according to a survey made by W. A. Moses on October 14, 1940.

This entire tract of 4.25 acres is subdivided so that each lot fronts on a 30 foot street. On Lot 4, in Block B, is located the dwelling house and outbuildings of the late John E. Sears. This dwelling has 7 large rooms, 2 large halls, front, back and side porches, and a large pantry. An excellent well stands in a few feet of the back porch. The house is a well built frame structure, with metal roof and fair paint job. The outbuildings consist of a two stall stable with hay loft, garage, chicken house, wood house and smoke house.

Town water connections are in the dwelling house and both sewer and water mains are closely accessible to all the lots.

This valuable property is being sold for a division of this estate; each lot will be sold separately with the privilege of purchasing other lots, the lots first being sold separately and then the entire property will be sold as a whole.

This land is within two city blocks of the business section of the town of Appomattox, and is less than half a mile of three churches and the high school.

TERMS OF SALE: CASH (But terms may be arranged on the day of sale to responsible purchasers).

R. L. Burke, Agent

R. E. Redding, Auctioneer.

Copies of the plat of this property can be seen at the Bank of Appomattox.

Glassware Better Today

Glass was more precious than gold in the days of ancient Rome but the more than 7,000,000 glass containers sent to market in the United States every year—which are today as common as paper bags and economical to use—are a far better quality, lighter and more durable than the priceless glass objects of the ancients due to modern American manufacturing processes.

Grandma saved glass, string, rags, newspapers and old nails but the modern housewife can throw away her used glass containers and do a favor to herself and the junk man.

Find 'Lost People' in Isolated Spot of Peru

A town composed of 80 white families, which had been out of contact with civilization for 25 years, has been discovered at the mouth of the Rio Pinquen in the southeast corner of Peru, Captain Contreno, in charge of a corps of Peruvian aviators, reported. Not only were they ignorant of the present war, they didn't know who won the World war.

The isolated community was in the department of Madre de Dios (Mother of God), a mountainous section bounded on the east by Bolivia and the north by Brazil.

The aviators discovered the community while flying for the Swedish-American scientific expedition, known as the Winner-Green expedition.

The aviators, according to Captain Contorno, landed near the community and were joyfully received by the inhabitants.

The Spanish - speaking people seized the newspapers the aviators gave them and read them avidly.

Some members of these "lost families" asked the aviators to take back word to Peruvian authorities that they would like a school and a radio telegraph station established in their village, Captain Contorno said.

Ancient Laws

In Ohio it's unlawful to:

Attend a prize fight.

Drive past a horse without consent of the horse's owner.

Join a fraternity, sorority or other school group.

Go fishing or quarrel with your wife (or anyone else) on Sunday.

Break into jail.

Anthony J. Koval, lawyer, whose hobby it is to unearth oddities in the statute books, found the above came under the list of violations contained in Baldwin's Blue Book of Ohio Laws—and they have never been repealed.

Fines for driving a motor car past a horse or horse-drawn vehicle without the consent of the horseman—or refusing to stop your car when overtaken by a horse—range up to $50.

Another section states that "whoever, being a pupil in the public schools, organizes, joins or belongs to a fraternity, sorority or other like society" is a lawbreaker subject to a $25 fine.

UNIVERSALLY POPULAR
The "Sunday School Lesson" published each week in this newspaper has been adopted by thousands of church instructors throughout the United States as a regular part of their weekly work.
It is a review and exposition of the international lesson for each week, prepared by Dean Harold L. Lundquist of the Moody Bible Institute at Chicago, a recognized leader in the nation's church work. Dean Lundquist has been active in teaching youthful groups for years, thereby acquiring an insight into the needs of these people for understandable explanations of Bible passages.
In view of his accomplishments in church work, it is not surprising that Dean Lundquist's exposition of the weekly Sunday School lesson is being used in almost every community of the nation. As teacher or student you will find it extremely helpful.
